VANDALS STEAL 50 PHONOGRAPH RECORDS FROM COLLEGE ANNEX

Upwards of 50 phonograph records, most of them old classic numbers and many of them collector's items, were taken from the classroom and office annex of Gettysburg College Wednesday night and smashed against a pole on a campus pathway leading from the railroad tracks to the hall, past the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house, according to a report made to borough police Thursday afternoon.

A window in the annex was broken and the window unfastened to gain entrance, police said. College authorities told police they were unable to estimate the value of the records. A college student who resides on Chambersburg street first discovered the vandalism on his way to class Thursday morning. He found records scattered and broken along the pathway, but because of classes, was unable to report it until later in the day.

Irreplaceable Records

Most of the records were the property of Dr. W. Frederick Shaffer, professor of Greek at the college and are irreplaceable, police said.

The Reel Tire Service, 250 Buford avenue, was entered between 10:45 p. m. Thursday and 7 a. m. today, and between $7 and $8 taken from the cash drawer of the register in the office. Entrance was gained by breaking a rear window.

The burglar or burglars also took all of the stop watches belonging to the college and a jacket owned by Coach Henry T. Bream.

Donald Reel, proprietor, discovered the burglary when he opened his place for business this morning. The office had been ransacked, presumably in a search for money, but nothing except the cash in the register had been taken, he said. Contents of the safe were strewn on the floor. The money included receipts from cigar, cigarette and soft drink sales.

It was the third time the place had been entered in recent years. More than $300 worth of merchandise was taken in 1944. In 1948 two youths were caught in an attempted burglary.

Paul Evans, proprietor of a grocery store on York street, reported to borough police late Thursday that boys had stolen several bottles of soft drinks from a porch at the store.

OFFICER WILL SPEAK MONDAY

Major George L. Jesse, of the Armed Forces Information school, Carlisle Barracks, will be the speaker at both the Rotary club meeting here Monday night and the open house to be held jointly by the American Legion and VFW at the Albert J. Lentz post home, Baltimore street, on Monday night.

Major Jesse will have as his topic "Unification—Us, Not We and They."

For the past year Major Jesse has headed the public speaking block of instruction in the Public Information department of the Armed Forces Information school at Carlisle. During the war he served overseas 52 months with the Air Force in the Fiji Islands, Solomon Islands, France and Germany.

After the war he was executive assistant to the air operations officer of the Airways and Air Communications Service in Washington, D. C., and later was in the Radio Branch of the Director of Public Relations in the office of the Secretary of the Air Force. A native of Lexington, Ky., the air force officer attended the University of Kentucky and the University of Maryland.

Monday night's programs are among a number scheduled to be held during the coming week as part of the observance of Armed Forces Day and National Defense Week.

To List Parochial School Beginners

Students who will enter the first grade at St. Francis Xavier Catholic school in September are to be registered at the convent on West High street between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, it was announced today.

An additional period for registration of the first graders will be held Sunday, May 21, when registration may be made following masses in the morning or in the afternoon.

Only those children who will have reached the age of six by January 31, 1951, will be admitted to the first grade in September, the school announced.

Auxiliary Names Two Committees

Two committees, nominating and constitution and by-laws, were appointed by the Adams County Home Auxiliary at its meeting Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the county home. Rev. Nevin Frantz, Arendtsville, presided as president.

The nominating committee comprises: Mrs. Hope Morgan, chairman; Mrs. Milton Remmel and Mrs. John Legere. The constitution and by-laws committee includes: Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, chairman, Mrs. Clarence Smith, Mrs. Dale Lawver and Miss Margaret McMillan. The two groups will report at a meeting of the auxiliary at the county home June 1 at 2 p. m.

Rev. Dr. Gresh reported on past activities of the auxiliary including the Easter greetings sent each inmate at the home.

B. AND P. WOMEN ENJOY ANNUAL M-D BANQUET

The annual Mother and Daughter banquet of the Business and Professional Women's club was attended by 42 persons Thursday evening at the Y.W.C.A. The dinner, which was prepared by Mrs. Ruth Johns, was arranged by the following committee: Miss Rosea Armor, chairman; Mrs. Lois Staub, Mrs. Roxanna Wright, Miss Nina Merrow, Mrs. Mildred Benner, Miss Freda Trovill and Mrs. Dorothy Myers.

Mrs. Jesse Clappadine and Miss Mary Duttera were co-chairmen of the program committee with Miss Eileen Bushman, Miss Katherine Bucher, Miss Beatrice Benner, Miss Mary Jane Willis, Mrs. W. A. Corbett and Miss LeOra Held as additional members.

Miss Virginia Wright, president of the club, offered invocation. Mrs. Duttera acted as toastmistress. Mrs. B. E. Murray gave a toast to daughters and Miss Maureen Murray presented a toast to mothers.

Pageant Presented

The program after the dinner consisted of a reading by Mrs. Corbett and the presentation of a "Pageant of Famous Women," in which the following characters were depicted: Grace Dodge by Miss Willis; Alice Freeman Palmer by Mrs. Ann Bracey; Carrie Jacobs Bond by Mrs. Wright; Miss Annie Danner by Mrs. Gladys Brown. Mrs. Clappadine was reader and Miss Merrow furnished piano music.

Group singing was led by Miss Bucher with Mrs. Bracey at the piano. Miss Patsy Moser of the Y-Teens club assisted Miss Merrow in serving the dinner.

The program closed with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

SENIORS READY FOR LAST DANCE

Members of the Gettysburg high school senior class, advisors and the decorating committee today put the finishing touches on "Bon Voyage," the senior dance, the last social function before graduation. Classmates, alumni and friends of Gettysburg high school are invited to attend. The dance will take place in the new gymnasium Saturday night from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock with Al Shirey's orchestra, York, furnishing the music. Tickets are on sale at the high school at 60c per person. Dress is semi-formal.

A highlight of the evening will be the crowning of a King and Queen chosen by the seniors. They are Nina Williams, Queen, and Theodore McKenrick, King. They will be crowned before intermission by Guile W. Lefever, principal of the school.

Prepare Dock Scene

The decorations include tropical fish ball nets, which will represent fish nets, numerous sea gulls, anchors, and life savers. The gymnasium has been converted to represent a dock scene. Suitcases on the dock indicate the seniors are leaving school. Another interesting backdrop of travel folders of different countries has also been prepared. The orchestra backgrounds is an ocean scene with white sail boats. The decorating committee includes: Robert Moser, chairman; Caroline Bollinger, Lloyd Myers, Jane Drach, Nicky George, Nina Williams, John Raffensperger, Harry Coffelt and George Musselman.

Seminary Choir To Present Concert Sunday

Members of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary choir, which will present a concert at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Church of the Abiding Presence are shown below. The choir of 30 voices is now in its 16th year. In addition to the choir numbers there will be selections by the seminary octet, and Prof. Robert Clippinger, the director, will play several organ numbers preceding the concert.

Dr. Ralph M. Weaver Is Awarded Prize

Dr. Ralph M. Weaver, native of Gettysburg and a nephew of Mrs. Miriam Jones, Baltimore street, has been given the Dr. H. H. Kerr award and a prize of $50 for outstanding work as resident and interne doctor at Garfield hospital, Washington, D. C.

The award was presented recently by the medical staff of the hospital. Doctor Weaver, who is resident pathologist at the hospital, is now completing his third year of specialized training at the institution.

A graduate of Gettysburg high school, the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Pennsylvania Medical school, Doctor Weaver served as a captain in the army after receiving his M.D. After his separation from service, he became an interne at the Washington hospital.

The demonstrations of the fire company's varied and modern equipment revealed that Gettysburg is "second to none" in the service it renders, and its members justified in the pride they take in their organization and apparatus.

The recently installed short wave radio attracted considerable attention, and a display arranged by Equipment Foreman Eugene S. Siskles graphically illustrated how it is used. The display included models representing the engine house, fire trucks and burning buildings, and also an ambulance.

"Radio Means Better Fire Protection for Everyone Within 25 Miles of Gettysburg," said one caption. Another read: "You Report the Location of the Fire—Our Radio Station Goes On The Air—We Do the Rest."

Radio Operator Murray Miller and others demonstrated how the central station talks to other radio men on the trucks responding to a call or at the scene of a fire, and how the operator with each piece of apparatus keeps in constant touch with the central station and with other trucks.

OHIO SAFETY PATROL BOYS ON VISIT HERE

One hundred and thirteen boys and girls between the ages of 11 and 14 from five counties around Cleveland, Ohio, visited Gettysburg Thursday night and this morning en route to Washington on a tour arranged by the Cleveland Automobile club.

The group was selected for the trip for outstanding work as members of safety patrols in schools in the Cleveland area. One youngster on the tour, 11-year-old Gurnie Randall, will be presented with a gold medal at Washington for saving a boy's life while engaged in safety patrol work. At the risk of his own life, he pulled a school mate out of the way of a speeding car that failed to stop at a traffic signal.

Police Escort

Accompanying the youngsters were two members of the Ohio State Police, traveling in an Ohio police car, and among the group of men and women, mostly teachers, aiding in handling the children, were two policemen, Patrolmen Kenneth Grohe, of Ravensdale, and John Thomas, of Painesville, who were selected for the duty because of their work with the school safety patrols during the past year.

Mrs. Mildred McKay, safety director for the Cleveland Automobile club, headed the entourage. After stopping at the Hotel Gettysburg here for dinner, at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening, the youngsters visited the cyclorama and the National Museum before returning to the hotel for the night. This morning they toured the battlefield in their three buses and then left for Washington.

Miss Virginia Southan, a school nurse accompanying the group, found little work to do other than to change the dressings on the thumb of one youngster, who broke the finger several weeks ago, but decided to make the trip anyway.

The Cleveland club has been sponsoring trips to Washington for the past five years but this year marks the first time that Gettysburg has been made part of the tour.

DISPLAYS SHOW MANY MEANS OF FIRE FIGHTING

How the Gettysburg Fire company uses the money contributed by borough and rural residents each year was graphically portrayed Thursday night at the first of the four "open house" programs held at the fire engine house on East Middle street.

The "open house" has a three-fold purpose, of which this was one. It is also designed to present lessons in fire prevention, and to enlist the support of the residents of the county, particularly those outside the borough, in supplying more accurate information on the location of fires.

The demonstrations of the fire company's varied and modern equipment revealed that Gettysburg is "second to none" in the service it renders, and its members justified in the pride they take in their organization and apparatus.

Cast Gives Fine Performance Of Pleading Comedy Thursday Night; Repeat Show Tonight

"This Other Eden," the three-act comedy by Mrs. Mara Evans Sterns presented by the Woman's Club of Gettysburg, thoroughly delighted the audience present Thursday night at the Gettysburg high school auditorium for the first night performance. The show will be repeated this evening at 8 o'clock at the high school.

With the scene of the play located near Gettysburg, the audience found much to amuse it in the utilization Mrs. Sterns made of various activities in the county.

The county's great farm buying mystery was the basis for some of the action, with "Mordid," portrayed by Jack Thrush, dashing on stage frequently to report the latest rumor concerning who was buying the farms in the area from Cashtown to Hampton via Stone Jug.

Tourist's Complaint

There was even a letter, allegedly from a tourist, reporting that the tourist's wife had fallen on the pavement "at the hotel" and that complaint had been made to the borough police. Woman's club, over the Tea Cups, the AAUW and half a dozen other local organizations.

There were touches throughout the play which told much of the character of Adams county itself. An example was the surprise "Mrs. Clark" and others expressed as city dwellers moved to the country when they discovered that "Mr. Dunne," portrayed by William Harbaugh, not only was the hired man around the farm, but also served as preacher for a small congregation on Sundays.

Here And There News Collected At Random

Many patriotic programs will be given in Gettysburg and Adams county next week in observance of National Defense Week and Armed Forces Day.

In setting aside the week and day, when we note the accomplishments of all the Services that comprise our defensive organization, we are recognizing one of the most important aspects of our national life—teamwork.

The slogan for this observance is "TEAMED FOR DEFENSE." In its immediate meaning, it signifies that the three major branches of service, land, sea and air, are bound together in a single, unified effort, that of providing the maximum national security. But there is a much broader interpretation of that saying. The responsibility for the security of our country is not confined to the comparatively small regular defense establishment. At best it is a stop-gap in case of armed attack, and a skeleton around which we can build fully effective fighting forces. The real sources of our security go far deeper into our national life, until they strike its very bedrock foundations, our national resources, our technology, and the people who make them work.

Consider our accomplishments in the recent war. When it began we had comparatively few men in uniform, and they were poorly equipped. At its end, nearly 14 million men had donned uniforms. Our factories turned out unending streams of war materials. Our fleets covered and ruled the oceans, and our air forces controlled the skies. Faced with a grave threat to our existence, we had mobilized our resources of manpower and materials to the utmost extent.

$325 DAMAGE IN MINOR MISHAP

A truck and a bus which were bringing a party of 37 tourists to Gettysburg were involved in an accident on the Gettysburg-Carlisle road one mile north of Blisville at 1:10 p. m. Thursday afternoon, according to state police of the Gettysburg substation.

The truck, driven by Kenneth V. Dively 17, of Biglerville R. 1, and the bus, owned by Transit Service Company Inc., of Indianapolis, Indiana, were both traveling south, police said. Dively, according to the report, attempted to make a turn into a side road, driving first to the left side of Route 34 and then turning right.

Ray Vernon Thompson, 27, of Plainfield, Indiana, driver of the bus, thought Dively was about to make a left turn, police said, and tried to pass on the right.

No one was injured, and both bus and truck were able to continue under their own power. Estimates placed the damage to the side of the bus at $300 and to the truck at $25. Investigation is being continued.

GROWERS HEAR 3 SPEAKERS ON FRUIT OUTLOOK

Next week is going to be a busy one for the fruit growers of Adams county according to statements made by fruit research experts, Dr. Robert Kirby and Dr. John Pepper of State College, concerning the spray schedules for apple, peach, and cherry orchards. These statements were made at the regular meeting of the Adams County Fruit Growers association Thursday evening in the Biglerville grade school auditorium with President Harry Stoner presiding.

John A. Hauser, president of the C. H. Musselman company, talked to the fruitmen about the processor outlook for 1950 and expressed optimism for the continuance of a healthy economy and bright business outlook.

George Schriver and Robert Lott were appointed delegates to represent the association in the election of Penn State college trustees at the college on June 9. Ralph Tyson was named an alternate.

Spraying Factors

Drs. Kirby and Pepper indicated that the time and kind of spray is dependent upon several factors: weather, time and kind of last spray, variation in the blossom stage, in the upper and lower parts of the county, and the diseases or insects prevalent.

Dr. Kirby, speaking on disease control, said that the fruit is in good shape despite the rain. He said that where apple sprays have not been applied there is some scab. He stressed the maintaining of protection through the petal fall, which is the most crucial period. He recommended the use of milder spray materials after this period. The pink spray gives protection for 10 or 12 days. "If, after this time, the petal fall is still several days off more protection should be given," he said. He stressed the importance of applying the pre-bloom spray in time, adding that it would be wise to spray in the rain, if necessary.

Peach Blight

Conditions for peach blight, he said, are favorable and this is starting to show up. The use of sulphur, Kirby indicated, had been set back to give protection when it will do the most good. The shuck split spray will be the next peach spray, he asserted.

Dr. Kirby recommended 341 for the cherry petal fall spray. The older cherry leaves get, he pointed out, the more susceptible they become to disease. He warned against indiscriminate switching from the use of one material to another, which can be harmful.

Dr. Pepper, speaking of insect control, advised the use of poison against the red bandit leaf roller, mite, codling moth, green fruit (Please Turn to Page 2)

TRUMAN HOLDS TO REPEAL PLAN

Butte, Mont., May 12 (AP)—President Truman said today he will not "cease to fight" for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor law.

"The Taft-Hartley law hangs over the head of labor, threatening to destroy the gains of 15 years," he said. "There it will hang until we are able to replace it with a law that is fair to management and labor alike."

The president, in one of a series of major talks on his cross-country crusade for the Fair Deal, said in a prepared address: "That is something we must do, not only for the sake of labor, but for the sake of the whole country. I believe profoundly that the Taft-Hartley Act is a substantial infringement of the basic freedom to bargain collectively."

Mr. Truman's address, arranged for the rear platform of his cross-country special train, was one of a series in which he has been trying to whip up sentiment for the Fair Deal.

The president said that the "avowed intention" of the sponsors of the Taft-Hartley law "was to strengthen the hand of management."

"To do this," Mr. Truman said, "they devised a clever law which insidiously undermines the strength of labor unions."

RED LEADER TO BE JAILED

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Communist Leader Eugene Dennis today was ordered to jail immediately for contempt of Congress in 1947.

Federal Judge David A. Pine directed that Dennis, secretary general of the American Communist party, start at once to serve a one-year prison sentence.

Dennis had asked the court to delay the commitment until June 22. On that date the Court of Appeals in New York is scheduled to hear an appeal by Dennis and 10 other Communists convicted on conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the government.

In 1947, Dennis was convicted by a federal court here on charges of contempt growing out of his refusal to testify before the House Un-American Activities committee.

Dennis appealed the conviction. The Supreme Court upheld it last May 1.

While the appeal in the contempt case was pending, the government had brought the case against Dennis and 10 other Communist leaders in New York.

Dennis was given a five-year sentence on his conviction in New York. He is free under bond pending hearing of the appeal.

and had developed one of the greatest teams the world had ever seen, a team composed of every American working toward a single end.

Today, in a period of uneasy peace, we must maintain the framework for the same kind of fully organized effort. Our team for defense must include much more than our standing regular forces. It must include every American, ready to take up on short notice whatever duties are required of him in the preservation of his nation.

There is one vital element of our strength that cannot be measured in physical terms. That is our democracy—our freedom—or whatever name you may give it. Throughout history —not only ours but that of all mankind—it has always been the free peoples — who knew the value of their freedom — who were invincible. Time and time again, regimes basing their strength solely on uncontrolled power over their subjects have tried to impose slavery on free men. Sometimes they have gained initial success, but inevitably, sooner or later, they have failed. They could not permanently overcome man's deep, instinctive craving for personal freedom. Our democracy today is the solid foundation on which all our more obvious sources of strength — political, economic, physical and spiritual — are based.

In the light of these factors, the course we must pursue in the troubled world of today is clear. In physical terms, we must maintain our strength, so we can meet any immediate threat. And, behind our obvious physical strength, there must be a deeper and more effective strength of a free people fully determined to preserve their freedoms. When we have that — we are fully and unbentable TEAMED FOR DEFENSE.

Norwegian Boat Afire On Pacific

San Francisco, May 12 (AP)—Radio-marine station KPH today picked up a distress signal from the Norwegian motorship Talisman saying she was battling a bad fire in her engine room at latitude 34.15 N longitude 137.45 east.

The 6700 ton vessel expected the U. S. Navy Tanker Shawneetral and the Japanese freighter Tokatikan Maru alongside to assist her. Both vessels were reported speeding to the Talisman.

The position given would place the ship almost 300 miles due east of Yokohama.

worm, and curculio et. apples. He recommended the use of lead arsenate. His first choice for peach was parathion to kill the mite, fruit moth, and curculio. For cherry he advised the use of lead arsenate against curculio. He stated that there may be no shuck split spray.

The spraying of strawberries soon with chlorodane and ferimate was recommended.

Outlook Is Uncertain

Mr. Hauser prefaced his remarks with the qualification that the 1950 processor outlook is uncertain.

The president of the C. H. Musselman company found room for optimism in both the long term and short term viewpoint in regards to fruit.

"Planting of apple trees is a good investment for the future," he said, adding that "it is bound to pay increased dividends when bearing 15-18 years from now. The Appalachian Apple service reports a decline of 33.5 per cent in the apple tree census in Virginia, a 55 per cent decline in Maryland since 1925 and a 40 per cent decline in Pennsylvania.

Many Advantages Here

"We have good climate here and good soil for growing apples. We have many other advantages, nearness to markets for fresh and canned production, good labor supply, excellent research facilities and personnel through our own State College and last, but not least, we have a mutual understanding between growers and processors. Other sections envy us because growers and processors here understand each other and work together. Again I say that a well managed apple orchard in a good location will pay dividends to you and your children. And the processors, such as the C. H. Musselman company and the Knouse Cooperative Foods are in business for the years ahead, as well as today, and growers and processors should take the long term view.

"From the short term, the 1950 viewpoint, there is also room for optimism. The balance of No. 10 canned apples in canners warehouses as of the beginning of April was 1,316,222 cases. This is hardly an ample supply for the months of April, May, June, July and August. The amount of apple sauce still in canners warehouses April 1, was 2,571,688 cases, or less than the amount that was on hand June 1, 1948. At the normal rate of shipping, 600,000 to 700,000 cases per month, this is hardly a five months supply.

More Spending Money

"Statistically the picture is good. And people in 1950 will have more money to spend than ever before. It is estimated that personal income after taxes will average 198.3 billion dollars this year, against 191.2 billion last year. Spending out of that income is likely to reach 183.9 billion against 179.4 billion last year. I'm sure we can expect quality foods to get its share of this expendable income."

able "iron lung," the fire company's new inhalator, for use in smoke, shock or drowning cases, and the stretcher and grappling hooks carried on the service truck.

Panel of large photographs prepared by Walter B. Lane, chairman of the "open house" committee, showed scenes at several fires in or near Adams county; pictures of the presentation of the new inhalator given by the Elks lodge; tests of apparatus at the brickyard and elsewhere and others. The photographs of actual fires revealed the hazardous work of the firemen in rendering their voluntary services to the community.

A graphic illustration of the danger of smoking in bed was also shown with a real bed and a dummy with a cigarette in his hand.

Fire Prevention Movies

Three fire prevention movies were shown by Treasurer Joseph E. Codori: "Stop Fires, Save Jobs," "More Dangerous than Dynamite," and "One Match Can Do It."

The immense amount of damage caused by a carelessly dropped match in the mountains and woodlands was shown in pictures of disastrous forest fires, while the use of gasoline as a cleaning fluid in the home with near-fatal results was another portrayal.

Other exhibits which attracted considerable attention included a display arranged by the Adams Electric Cooperative, showing what happens when electric circuits are overloaded, and one by the Gettysburg Auto Parts showing various types of fire extinguishers and materials.

The "open house" will be held again tonight from 7 to 9:30 p. m.; on Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 p. m. and Saturday evening from 7 to 9:30 p. m.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

When does a winning streak become a habit?

The Hagerstown Braves have been unbeatable since the Interstate Baseball league season got underway. They extended their streak to 13 straight without a loss by defeating the Lancaster Red Roses last night 6-2. A three-run rally in the eighth inning sewed up the game for the Braves. Righthander Howard Anderson went the distance for the winners.

Righthander Carroll Mattson pitched a three-hitter and Bob Esterbrook clouted two homers as the Trenton Giants downed the Sunbury Athletics 6-0.

The win brought the sixth place Giants within a half game of the Allentown Cardinals, who lost to York's White Roses 4-3. The York manager, Frank Oceak, and four York players were banished after Oceak protested a decision at second base too vigorously.

The Harrisburg Senators, tied with York for third place, staged a seven-run uprising in the second frame to top the Wilmington Blue Rocks 10-6.

Seek Local Teams For Ball Tourney

An invitation has been extended to county baseball teams, composed of youngsters between eight and 12 years of age, to take part in a Mason-Dixon invitational tournament to be held in York the latter part of August under the sponsorship of the Baseball for Boys Association of York.

Teams interested in entering are requested to contact Harry J. McLaughlin, executive secretary, by June 1. He may be reached at the York Dispatch newspaper office.

Bullets Host To Mules Saturday

Gettysburg college's baseball team will seek win No. 8 Saturday afternoon when Muhlenberg college will be met on Nixon field at 3:30 o'clock. The Bullets have dropped three decisions.

The Mules have displayed great offensive strength in recent games and are certain to be a worthy foe for the locals. George Hare is expected to be Coach Ira Plank's mound selection for the Bullets.

Three games are carded for the Bullets next week. Mt. St. Mary's will be met here Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Navy will be played at Annapolis on Wednesday and the following Saturday P. and M. will be met at Lancaster.

Batting—Cliff Mapes, Yankees, won the first game from Browns with three-run homer, 5-1; routed St. Louis starter with two triples in 6-5 second game win.
Pitching—Robin Roberts, Phillies, struck out three pinch hitters to protect his fourth win, trouncing Pirates, 3-2.

New York, May 12 (AP)—Steve

Owen, the football Giants coach, "couldn't be disturbed" in his movie cubicle. . . . But when he emerged, trailed by Assistants Al Sherman and Ed Kolman, he grinned sheepishly and admitted: "I was showing these kids how Tuffy Leemans used to play." . . . To not-too-stout Steve, they don't come much better than Leemans, and he's just hoping Travis Tidwell will turn out to be the same kind of player. . . . "Tuffy wasn't so fast, but he was shifty and smart," Steve recalled. "He used every blocker, and even when they didn't block for him, he'd use them as shields. . . . They said he couldn't pass, but he was always throwing those touchdown passes—about ten a season. . . . Tidwell has a lot of savvy, too; he's played a lot of football. And you never know what he's going to do either."

NEW WORDS, SAME PLAT-TUNE
If he has the right kind of material—and there should be plenty next fall—Owen hopes to use a two-team system instead of offensive and defensive platoons. . . . "The platoons have worked out pretty well for me, but sometimes a player doesn't stay in there long enough to get mad," Steve explains. . . . "When we had our long winning streak in the 1930's, I used one team in the first quarter and another in the second. . . . We were playing the Bears and they had the ball on our one-yard line. . . . The first team held them for two downs, then the quarter ended. . . . I just asked the other boys, "Do you think you can hold 'em for two more?" And sent them out. . . . They took the ball on the one-yard line and that really was the making of that team."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Birdie Tebbetts' improved batting average this season may be due to his golf swing, which he practiced for many hours. . . . They also have a child-like ignorance of the value of other peoples' dough. . . . Alabama and Notre Dame already are dicker over a 1953 football game. . . . Softball League To Meet Monday

A very important meeting of the Gettysburg Softball association will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Moose home.

Plans, preparatory to the opening of the season Tuesday evening, will be made. Forfeit money must be posted Monday by all teams who have not already made payment while players' fees of $1 each are also to be paid at the meeting.

President Johnny Knox urges every team to have a representative present as other important details must be decided upon.

TIGERS ROUT BOSTON PARK JINX; WIN 2

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Red Rolfe's Detroit Tigers ripped the sheets off the Fenway Park "bogie man." And they did it without Hal Newhouse.

All Detroit pennant talk has been tempered with the big question: "Can they beat the Sox in Boston?" The answer obviously is "yes."

They did it yesterday—twice. In the first game by a rollicking 13-4 score and later a 5-3 squeaker with the help of damaging errors by Ted Williams and Walt Dropp.

Failure to beat Boston cost the Tigers a shot at the 1949 pennant. In fact, they have won only 14 of 44 games with the Red Sox home and away in the last two seasons.

Joe Dobson just didn't have it and Freddie Hutchinson did in the 13-4 first game. Hutchinson had a three-hit shutout until Ted Williams hit his eighth homer with the bases loaded, in the eighth inning. All of Ted's home runs have been hit at Fenway.

Thanks to Clyde Volmer's two-run round-tripper, Ellis Kinder rode into the eighth inning of the second game with a fancy shutout. Then Williams let him down. With the bases full, Williams let Vic Wertz single skid past him for an error and three runs scored. Dick Kryhoski's homer and an error by Walt Dropp provided two more Detroit runs in the ninth. Dropp's four-bagger in the home half was just a futile gesture.

Yankees Move Up

New York took advantage of a double shot at the wobbly St. Louis Browns to win a pair, 5-1 and 6-5. As a result, the Yankees now are second and the Browns nurse a budding six-game losing streak. Cliff Mapes lowered the boom on Al Widmar in the opener, hitting a homer with two on that broke a 1-1 tie. It was Widmar's first start of the season. He's the boy who held out for a long time and threatened to go to the courts before the Browns relented.

Washington crowded within a game and a half of Detroit by whipping Chicago, 8-5, their fifth straight win. Bob Ortiz hammered home three runs with a triple, double and single.

Manager Lou Boudreau took Shortstop Lou Boudreau off the bench and it worked. Lou came across with four hits in Cleveland's 4-3 edge over Philadelphia in 10 innings. The manager set up the winning run with a 10th inning single off Alex Kellner.

Win On Homer
Willie Jones helped the Phillies add another half game to their National league lead. Jones, a red hot rival for Ralph Kiner in the home run derby, hit his seventh homer with two men on in the first inning of last night's 3-2 Phil win over Pittsburgh.

Johnny Sain flashed his comeback form against the Cubs with a four-hitter for Boston's 3-0 win. Sloppy defense cost Bill Voiselle the decision in his first meeting with his former mates.

The New York at St. Louis night game and Brooklyn at Cincinnati day games were rained out.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
V. F. W. Post Will Be Instituted
On Wednesday: With a parade and public exercises at the court house, Gettysburg Post No. 15, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be instituted
Wednesday evening.

Music for the parade will be furnished by the White Rose VFW Post kilt band, of York; the Harrisburg VFW post drum corps, the Hanover VFW post drum corps and the Gettysburg college band.

Among the speakers will be James E. Van Zandt, of Altoona, national VFW commander-in-chief. The local post will be formally instituted by Dr. R. E. Conway, state department senior vice-commander, Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., and Burgess Wilbur J. Stallsmith will speak.

Local Man Weds In Cumberland, Md.: Jacob Kermit Herter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob I. Herter, and Miss Katherine Elizabeth Welsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elben I. Welsh, of Keyser, W. Va., were united in marriage Saturday evening, May 4, in Cumberland, Md. The ring ceremony of the Lutheran church was performed by the Rev. M. Bowersox.

The bride is now teaching in the Keyser junior high school. The bridegroom is in business with his father in Gettysburg.

County Couple Married: Miss Beatrice C. Riley, of Gettysburg, and Leo B. Althoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Althoff, Gettysburg, R. 1, were married at a nuptial mass at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Father Mark E. Stock.

The attendants were Miss Anna Althoff and Lester Schuchart.

Secret Marriage Announced: Announcement of the secret marriage of Miss Mary Althoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Althoff, Gettysburg, R. 1, and John Schuchart, of Hanover, was made on Saturday. The marriage was performed at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church by the Rev. Fr. Mark E. Stock, February 15.

Miss Anna Althoff and Lester Schuchart were the attendants. The couple is residing near Hanover.

Wisler Takes Office Monday: Raymond L. Wisler, North Stratton street, has received his appointment as superintendent of maintenance for Adams county from Warren S. Van Dyke, secretary of highways. Mr. Wisler will assume his new position Monday morning succeeding Frank E. Seacrist. Mr. Wisler's salary will be $2,400 per year.

More than 600 Hear Festival of Music: Youthful voices raised in song and the blare of bands echoed through the hills and valleys on the battlefield Friday afternoon, when the pick of Adams county school musicians gave a creditable concert on the Gettysburg high school athletic field.

The occasion was the first annual music festival of Adams county high schools, held under the direction of the office of the county superintendent of schools Fuly 600 vocalists and instrumentalists participated in the program and the audience was estimated in excess of 600 persons.

Robert Fischer, of Gettysburg high school, was the accompanist for the occasion.

Besides the two band directors, Paul A. Harner and Edwin S. Longenecker, those in charge of the choruses were Mrs. Dorothy R. Barley, Miss Regina M. Oyler, Prof. Charles E. Yost, Miss Oneda M. Dern, Miss Dorothy Brindle, Miss Rena Longenecker and Miss Mary M. Rupp.

Prof. Ira Y. Baker was chairman of the committee in charge of the music festival.

Dealers Announce Refrigerator Show: The first dealer cooperative electrical refrigerator jubilee is announced in the advertising columns of The Gettysburg Times by the Metropolitan Edison company and cooperating dealers.

Included in the list of dealers are Baker's Battery Service, H. and H.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON BOOK SELECTING

Many people write to me, asking me to tell them the books they should read. That is a difficult assignment. Books I may love may not be the ones that another would wish. All reading tastes are different. I like many people who I have learned that other people do not like. Selecting good books is like selecting friends.

Many of the books I have read and enjoyed so much have been those recommended by some one else, after a talk about them. The majority, however, have been books that I have selected from reading about them, or because of my taste for those in which I am most interested.

George B. McCutcheon was an author of many books, but he was also a great lover and collector of them. He once wrote a little book which he called "Books Once Were Men." A lover of books looks upon them as human, so that a great book becomes, in a large measure, one's friend. So it is that books should be selected as we select our living friends.

One's taste for reading is one's guide in selecting books. If you like to meet people you go where they get together, and there learn about them, and select such ones as you wish for friends. It's the same with books. Go to a book shop where they have their home, and select according to your taste—for there are books there for every inclination. Books about people, books on nature, books of poetry, and on almost every topic under the sun.

It is best to read a book that has stood the test of time—classics, they are called. You can make no mistake if you read one of these. The more any of us reads, the better we become as selectors of good books, for our standard of values increases. Many a good writer of today may be still famous years from now, joining the classics of that time.

A taste for the best books, however, should be one's aim, for one's love and after pleasure in them is lasting. Read them first! Read the books that entertain, instruct, and inspire you most. Keep your kind of books about you. They will comfort you as no individual can, at times.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Symbols of Greatness."

Famed Springs Reopens: Considerable progress is being made on Gettysburg's industry-attraction—the once famed and widely publicized Katalysine Spring, where the great and near-great once gathered to imbibe of its water in the days of the long ago.

Revived after laying dormant since December 17, 1917, when the rambling Springs hotel burned to the ground, the Katalysine Spring has been brought back and its new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde D. Berger, of Baltimore, propose to begin the bottling of the precious mineral water before July 1.

Town Board Of Health Urges Clean-Up Cooperation

ASK CITIZENS TO HELP MAKE TOWN CLEANER

Considerable progress has been made since May 1 on the borough's "Clean Up" campaign, sponsored by the Board of Health, but the board today renewed its request for fullest cooperation on the part of borough residents in efforts to not only improve the appearance of Gettysburg in the eyes of its residents and the thousands of tourists who come here each summer, but for the promotion of better health.

A warning was also issued today by Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner, calling attention to the fact that Monday is the last day of the borough's annual spring cleanup. Residents were warned that Monday is the last day to put out refuse to be collected by the borough trucks.

Display Posters
The posters submitted by the school children of Gettysburg in the recent contest sponsored by the Board of Health in conjunction with its "Clean Up, Fix Up and Spruce Up" campaign, have been attracting much attention. The winning posters are on display in three windows, The Lane Studio, York street; Philip Bickle insurance agency, Baltimore street, and Lippy's Men's Wear, Chambersburg street.

A number of other excellent posters submitted in the contest, although they did not win prizes, were judged of sufficient merit to warrant displaying, and these are being shown in Minter's and other store windows.

A number of business places and home owners have added "Paint Up" to the "Clean Up" slogan by having their buildings and homes re-painted.

BIG THREE MAY EASE CONTROLS

London, May 12 (AP)—The Western powers today debated unfreezing some of their occupation controls on West Germany.

Easing of restrictions came up for discussion as the Big Three foreign ministers began the second session of their three-day meeting on how to bolster Western defenses against the threat of Russian Communist expansion.

The American and British delegations presented proposals for turning over to the Bonn government more control of West Germany's internal and foreign affairs.

An authoritative source said the proposals did not contemplate formal revision of the present occupation statute, but rather a Big Three agreement not to exercise full statute controls pending formal review of the occupation powers this fall.

Also on the agenda was consideration of France's proposal for merging the French and German industries potential. It was expected that the German problems would occupy the foreign ministers most of the day.

The initiative for relaxing some of the German controls came almost entirely from the American and British sides. They disagreed on some points.

New Disease Found In Philadelphia

Philadelphia, May 12 (AP)—Doctors reported today that a mild disease previously found only in portions of New York City have been traced to Philadelphia.

The doctors said there was some indication that three patients now recovered had suffered from a disease known as "Rickettsia Pox."

The disease is caused by a microbe which is carried by species of mite—itsself in turn frequently carried by the common house mouse. The bite of the infected mite produces a pimple-like or boil-like sore and later symptoms are fever, sweating, headache and a rash resembling that of chicken pox.

Most cases are mild although some patients have required hospitalization in New York.

Needs Transfusions Daily To Survive

Bryn Mawr, Pa., May 12 (AP)—Volunteer blood donors are wanted by doctors at Bryn Mawr hospital for five-year-old Donna Brookfield, who needs daily transfusions to live.

Doctors said yesterday the child is suffering from a rare blood disease known as pancytopenia.

Donna has had 33 transfusions since entering the hospital. At night she sleeps in an oxygen tent.

Relatives and friends have given blood, some more than once, doctors said, but now outside help is needed.

Donna, who lives in nearby Haverford, must have an unusual type of blood—O-RH negative—to keep her alive.

Gettysburg college students spent the Mother's Day week-end with their sons on the campus and participated in a program replete with entertainment.

Retired Railroader Snared In Strike

Chicago, May 12 (AP)—It seems a retired railroad watchman picked the wrong time to travel.

Wright E. Smeal, 85, of Altoona, Pa., became stranded here yesterday on his return home from a trip to California. His life-time pass from the Pennsylvania railroad was of no use—the PRR wasn't running any trains east from Chicago because of the railroad firemen's strike.

But the Traveler's Aid helped Smeal. They arranged with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to honor his pass to Altoona.

QUIET SETTLES OVER ALTOONA

Altoona, Pa., May 12 (AP)—This Pennsylvania town of 80,000 which the Pennsylvania railroad helped to build and now helps sustain is one of the quietest towns in the country today.

Nearly one-third of the family heads are idle—they're employed by the PRR in its vast shops or on its middle division running between Altoona and Harrisburg, Pa. About 10,000 men were furloughed today at the shops, biggest in the PRR system.

Another 4,000 have been idle since the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen struck on four major railroads two days ago to enforce demands for a second fireman on Diesel locomotives.

Outside of picketing by the firemen, there's little activity, few of the railroaders will discuss the strike. Here and there a few brakemen or conductors say they aren't in favor of the strike. But they won't give their names. The majority of the railroaders appear to be "sticking together," one veteran engineer remarked.

No one is crossing the picket lines set up at the 14 crew points (where crews ordinarily meet to take over trains) and at the main passenger station and freight terminal.

Some who do their duty as they see it should consult an oculist.

HOSEA REVEALS GOD'S FORGIVING LOVE

By Rev. Howard R. Gold, D.D., Margaret C. Gold

Hosea 11:1-4-8-11; 14:4-9

Memory selection: I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely.—Hosea 14:4

This lesson on God's love and forgiveness comes as a gentle but stirring Old Testament prelude to Christ's gospel of love. The emphasis on the need for forgiving love in our home relationships today suggests the question, What is true love? The love of Hosea toward his wayward wife was not an emotional, sentimental feeling but a suffering and enduring love such as God has toward all his erring people. True love demands justice as well as mercy.

The theme of the last lesson was the unfaithfulness of God's people. Here in Hosea's tender message we find how God loves all people and nations despite their failings and backslidings. The healing and redemptive power of Divine love is shown.

Yearning Love

Even though Israel has wandered far from the paths of righteousness God yearns over her. Hosea recalls in the first part of the text that the early history of Israel was a romance. Instead of selecting one of the powerful nations such as Assyria or Egypt to carry out his plan, God chose a slave people. "From Egypt I called him to be my son." In terms of family relationship Hosea suggests how Israel started on her career—slaves because God loved and called her people. But this imposed an obligation on Israel and all God's people to serve and obey him. "Sonship to God is conferred by love, and confirmed by duty." The figure of the Fatherhood of God is continued: "Yet I taught Ephraim (Israel) to walk. I took them on my arms." This may refer to giving them the Ten Commandments by which to live.

Corrective Love

The figure changes again and God's gentleness and kindness is compared to a compassionate driver of an ox team who draws the yoke forward as he eases the beasts from their necks. God draws men "with bands of love" and eases their burdens whenever possible. Every human being craves sympathy and kindness, the very things that the prophet attributes to God. It is easy to forget and forgive restraint when we know it is applied by a loving hand.

Hosea believed that the only way love can correct sin is by action, the kind of action that shows unselfishness, kindness and justice. The cry, "How am I to give thee up, O Ephraim?" shows Hosea's inner

THE FAMILY

The family is the basic unit of organized society. From it have grown the tribe, the nation, and the race. Its development marked man's first step from primitive to civilized life.

In the protection of his family and the pursuit of its comfort and happiness, man has developed all of his arts, sciences, industries, and institutions. The home is the greatest factor in human progress.

Nations grow strong and great as their family life improves, and they deteriorate and fall when the family breaks down.

Our hope as a nation lies in restoring and strengthening the home life of our people. Influences which tend to undermine the family have crept in, so that today the American home is in serious jeopardy.

The strength of the family is in its faith—faith in God, faith in the right, faith in each other. We must restore these. We must turn to the Church and the teachings of the Bible if our country is to survive.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

PLAN TO POOL INDUSTRIES IN EUROPE GROWS IN MAGNITUDE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The sensational French proposal for pooling western Europe's steel and coal industries under a central authority — beginning with a union of the great German and French works — grows in magnitude with analysis.

Thus far, too, it has grown in general approval among the western powers, though Russia treats it as a further move hostile to her. Western Germany's quick acceptance of this project advanced by her old enemy has given the idea a decided fillip, strengthening as it does the hopes of a really United States of Western Europe.

However, the reaction continues guarded because of the sweeping implications of the plan. The idea does involve the surrender of some degree of sovereignty and this is causing a cautious survey of the position.

Need German Cooperation

Some aspects of the proposal are so patently for the general good that there is no question about them. For instance the burying of the hatchet by France and Germany would be a wholly unexpected boon. The integration of western Germany into the politico-economic union of western Europe is essential to general rehabilitation and the creation of defensive strength.

But there is another side to the picture. At first blush Britain showed anxiety because she feared that the Franco-German iron and steel combination would be harmful to her own vast steel business. Further consideration seems to have eased her doubts somewhat, but she is moving cautiously in appraising the proposal.

This is an important point, because British approval would be necessary before the project became effective.

Sympathetic Approval

America's position has been indicated by Secretary of State Acheson, who is attending the big three (America, Britain and France) foreign ministers' conference in London. He has given his sympathy and approval to the "significance and far reaching intent" of the proposal, but has withheld judgment on the plan itself until details have been studied.

How do we interpret this latest development? Surely it means that at least some of Germany's former opponents believe she has the makings of a good member of the western community of nations. I think we are entitled to accept that judgment. I think we also are entitled to believe that the German people as a whole are not imbued with the evil spirit of the Prussian war lords which was responsible for both world wars. We shouldn't overlook that from boyhood Hitler was a vast admirer of these war mongers, and he took his cue from them.

BRITISH SEIZE CAPTURED SHIP

London, May 12 (AP)—The British navy has recaptured the 564-ton British steamer Ethel Moller, seized by Chinese Nationalists two months ago for running their blockade. An Admiralty spokesman disclosed today.

The spokesman said Nationalist soldiers—some of them wounded—and several Chinese women and children were aboard the Ethel Moller when she was retaken without a fight.

The British destroyer Cosack hailed the captured steamer yesterday off the island of Amoy, then boarded her. Seamen from the Cosack disarmed the Chinese soldiers.

The boarding party hoisted the British merchant navy flag to indicate the Ethel Moller was a merchant vessel, and not a naval prize.

The original crew was put back in charge of the vessel, the spokesman said.

DEMOCRATIC AIDES

Pittsburgh, May 12 (AP)—Maurice Spahn, Jr., state Democratic chairman, has selected three top aides to help him try and elect Democrats in the November elections. Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh will direct the campaign in western Pennsylvania. James P. Clark of Philadelphia in eastern Pennsylvania and Herbert Cohen of York in central Pennsylvania.

struggle between love and justice. All parts have the same feeling when forced to punish their children, but a just love is the perfect love. The rebellious people of Israel deserved punishment. Hosea sums up their guilt in his final argument; he omits none of the horrors of war and destruction that appear imminent.

Forgiving Love

God's forgiving love is revealed in 14:4. "I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely." God will be as the life giving "dew" which comes as a night mist over the arid hills and valleys of Palestine. He will preserve His people in spite of themselves. God's love and care may still redeem mankind in our age, for, like the dew from Hermon, it permeates all of life.

After predicting doom Hosea comes back to the hope of restoration. He still looks for the day when Israel will put aside her idols, return to God and confess her sins. She will then put her trust in God rather than in foreign alliances. This episode closes on a high note of love and a last call for repentance.

Contagion of Love

Nevel D. Hillis in "The Contagion of Character" while developing the idea that love is contagious describes how love for the poor and unfortunate is catching, how the spirit of the missionary hero, David Livingstone, still lives on in the Dark Continent. His conclusion is, "For goodness, like a beautiful civilization, is a contagion that is sweeping over all the earth." Certainly the missionary movement abroad and the work of varied community and church social agencies at home are evidence that this contagion of love is spreading. How can we help in spreading it? By example in the home. Children learn the language of love from their parents, which is a stepping stone to understanding the divine love that encompasses the whole world. Over the choir stalls of a certain village church in England there is written in Latin: "Love, not sound, rises to the ears of God."

"For the love of God is broader Than the measure of man's mind; And the heart of the eternal Is most wonderfully kind."

Questions on the S. S. Lesson

1. How is God represented in this lesson?
2. What does Hosea attempt to show?
3. What is "corrective love"?
4. Where had Israel placed her trust?
5. How did the prophet encourage the people?

Answers

1. As a loving, forgiving Father.
2. The redemptive power of Divine love.
3. Love that restrains and prevents sinning.
4. In foreign alliances.
5. With the hope of final restoration.

SPORTSMEN TO HAVE CARNIVAL; VIEW NEW POND

Members of the Littlestown Fish and Game association inspected the pond being built on their farm in Germany township, prior to their monthly meeting Wednesday night. The pond will soon be ready to be filled. It covers an area of about three acres and will have a depth of from three to 15 feet. Top soil and fill are still available, and anyone interested should contact Walter F. Crouse.

The meeting was in charge of the president, Dr. Joseph R. Riden. G. Richard Knipple presented the secretary's report. A committee consisting of Theron W. Spangler, Karl Bankert and Edward Leister was appointed to contact the borough council relative to removing the board containing the servicemen's honor roll and storing it some place where it can be preserved.

Carnival plans were an important part of the meeting. The annual carnival will be held on the Littlestown playground June 22, 23 and 24.

SECTION I. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, association or corporation, to erect a dwelling house or any other building whatsoever within the limits of the Borough of Biglerville, without first making application to the Burgess for a permit to construct the same, which application shall set forth the location, dimensions, material and estimated cost of the said dwelling house or other building.

SECTION II. A fee of fifty cents for each $1,000.00 or part thereof of estimated cost, which fee shall not be less than $1.00, shall be paid to the Burgess by the applicant at the time of making application.

SECTION III. Any person violating Section I or Section II hereof shall upon summary conviction before the Burgess or a Justice of the Peace be sentenced to pay a fine of from $1.00 to $10.00, and costs of prosecution; and in default of the payment thereof shall undergo imprisonment for not more than ten days.

SECTION IV. It shall be the duty of the Burgess in granting said permit to furnish the applicant with all grades and lines necessary to confirm and establish grades and lines affecting the said dwelling house or other building.

Enacted into an ordinance and passed at a session of council of the Borough of Biglerville, held this 9th day of May, A. D. 1950.
J. W. DEARDORFF, President of Council.

Attest:
EARL E. ECKER, Borough Secretary.

NOTICE

The Borough Council of the Borough of Gettysburg at 8:00 o'clock, P. M. Daylight Saving Time, Monday, June 5, 1950, at the Council Chambers, East Middle street, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, will receive sealed bids or proposals for controlling mosquitoes and flies in the Borough of Gettysburg, during the summer of 1950, through oiling breeding places, spraying or fogging and through other approved methods of treatment. Each bidder shall provide a complete statement of the treatment and methods proposed and formulas of materials to be used; and shall submit prices for each kind and for each application or treatment. The Borough has the right to elect at any time the acceptance of bids or during the treatment period to have additional treatments or applications.

The successful bidder before commencing work under his contract shall execute and deliver to the Borough a performance bond in a sum equal to fifty percentum of the contract price, and an additional bond for the use of every day and every person, partnership, association or corporation interested in a sum equal to fifty percentum of the contract price conditioned for the prompt payment of all materials furnished and labor supplied or performed in the prosecution of the work.

The contract shall contain a provision that the contractor shall accept insofar as the work covered by such contract is concerned the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act of 1915, and the supplemental and amendments thereto, and that the contractor will insure his liability thereunder or file with the Borough a certificate of exemption from insurance from the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation of the Department of Labor and Industry.

All bids must be delivered to the Secretary of the Borough at or prior to the time above set forth for the opening of bids. They may be mailed or delivered to Anna B. Deauba, Secretary, 257 East Middle Street, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, or delivered at the place of meeting above stated.

BY ORDER OF COUNCIL
ANNA B. DEAUBA, Secretary.

Methodists Set Out To Build Church

Philadelphia, May 12 (AP)—Methodists set out today to build up their church to prevent what a delegate to the 164th Philadelphia annual conference described as relegation to the suburbs.
 The Rev. Harold P. Sloan, rector of the Wharton Methodist church, told the 650 delegates representing 320 churches with more than 100,000 members yesterday:
 "Something must be done to strengthen our church or we will find the Protestant church in the suburbs and the Roman Catholic church dominating the city."
 Another speaker, Bishop Fred Pierce Carson, resident bishop of the Philadelphia area, reported the Roman Catholic church in the United States has doubled the number of its schools and colleges in the last 20 years while Methodists have lost seven institutions in the same period.

GOVERNMENT WORKER HAS MANY RIGHTS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The government worker has some ups and downs. He can always be fired, of course, for good cause.

But he may also lose his job for other reasons—for instance, if his job is abolished, or if Congress lets his agency's money run out and some people have to be fired.

What happens to him depends on four things: The kind of job he holds (whether he's temporary or permanent); whether he's a veteran; what his seniority over younger workers is; and how efficient he is.

In a brief story like this, all the details can't be given. But this will explain in outline what happens to a government employee when his agency goes out of business or its funds are cut.

At Least 30 Days Notice
It's a rule that any worker about to be dismissed must be given at least 30 days' notice.

The temporary employee—that is, one who took the job with the understanding the appointment was for a limited period—can be dropped without more ado than the 30 days' notice.

But in the case of a permanent employee—typically, one who qualified under civil service examination for a permanent job—an effort is made to place him in some other job, if his agency is to remain in existence while his branch or office is closed down.

Try To Find Him A Job

The first effort is to find another job for him in the same agency and in the same locality.

If he has veteran preference—that is, if he is entitled to preference on the basis of military service—and he must be considered for jobs held by employees who do not have veteran preference.

If no job is available within the locality, the dismissed man may ask to be considered for jobs in the agency at other localities which are held by temporary employees.

But suppose he can't find any job in the agency. Then he's given 30 days' notice. What happens then depends on how the individual agency handles such a problem:

1. He may be allowed to work the full thirty days and then get paid in cash for the unused portion of his annual leave, or vacation, which amounts to 26 days.

2. The agency may require the employee to take his vacation during the 30 days' notice period. If the employee already has used all his leave, the agency can place him on vacation without pay during the notice period.

Has Other Rights

But something else comes in here: A permanent employee who's dismissed and can't immediately find another government opening to which he can transfer, has a priority for a job in his former agency for one year.

This is what the priority means: He gets the call for another job over some newcomer looking for a job in the agency he left—that is, for any job the dismissed man can fill.

But there's something more: A permanent, but dismissed, gov-

Littlestown

Littlestown—At a meeting of the committee chairman, held Tuesday evening in the Littlestown State bank, plans were advanced for the summer music festival, sponsored jointly by the Littlestown Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Littlestown high school athletic council, to be held Sunday, June 4, at 8:15 p. m., on the Littlestown Memorial Field. It was emphasized that "this field is for the benefit of the youth as well as a memorial to the veterans and that this musical is being held to help eliminate the need for the field." The advertising committee is canvassing the town for contributions to the program. Mack Edwards of Hanover Radio station WHVR, will be master of ceremonies for the event. This music festival will feature the Littlestown Junior and Senior high school choruses, the high school band, the VFW Drum and Bugle Corps and the Littlestown Men's chorus. The following ticket agencies have been set up: Littlestown: Marvin's Cut Rate; Gettysburg: Shuman's Cut Rate; Hanover: Staub's Drug Store; Westminster: Benny's Kitchen; and Taneytown: Zerling's Hardware.

There will be another meeting of the committee chairman Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., at the Littleernment worker is eligible for reinstatement to any job, in any agency, for which he's qualified. But—if he's had less than five years' service in the government, he has this eligibility for reinstatement only for as many years as he worked for the government.

TO ALL THE VOTERS

I am publishing this advertisement in the interest of my friend, H. Earl Pitzer, of Aspers, candidate for the Republican nomination for Assemblyman from Adams County.

I have known Mr. Pitzer for many years. I have had many business dealings with him and have come to appreciate and recognize his business ability and his integrity.

I am convinced that he will make an excellent Representative in the State Legislature. He is a native of the county, a successful business man, has been a fruit grower and a farmer. He knows what laws will do the most good for the greatest number of people. I know that he wants an economical government in Pennsylvania and he will oppose any effort to take advantage of even our most humble citizen. He will serve all of us to the very best of his ability and I know he will do a good job if we send him to Harrisburg.

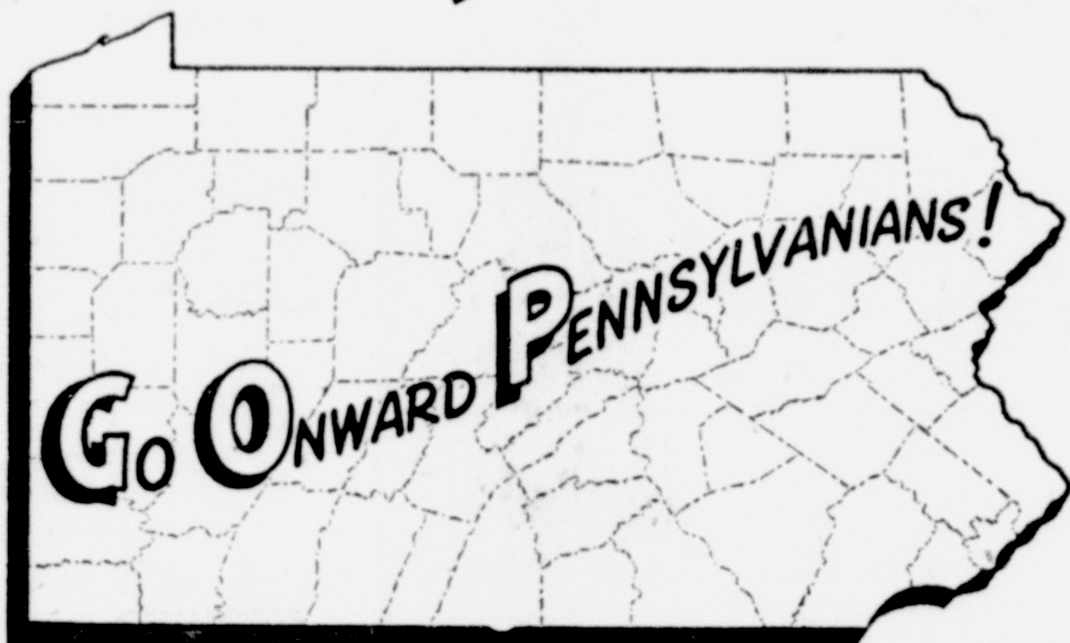

I appeal to the voters of Adams County to vote for H. Earl Pitzer, of Aspers, as the Republican nominee for the General Assembly.

A FRIEND.

This advertisement was authorized and paid for by a friend of H. Earl Pitzer.

PA. CAMPAIGN IS ENTERING FINAL STAGES

(By The Associated Press)
Pennsylvania's primary campaign went into its final week-end today with these developments:

Former U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy urged Republican voters to nominate U. S. Rep. John C. Kunkel, for U. S. Senator, and Jay Cooke, for governor, at poll next Tuesday.

Grundy, making his first speech of the campaign at Philadelphia said that should Gov. James H. Duff defeat Kunkel for the senatorial nomination, "the Democrats would eat him alive in the fall campaign."

Duff, Cooke Speak
Duff, at Norristown, said that Cooke pledged continuance of the clean streams program in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh but "repudiates and condemns the whole Duff administration clean streams program" when he goes into the authentic arena.

Cooke, at Altoona, listed as basic problems before the state: Carrying out a stream clearance and stream pollution program; attracting more diversified industries to Pennsylvania; and giving school teachers a "more equitable salary."

James P. Malone, Jr., fired by Duff earlier in the campaign as state insurance commissioner, said at Pittsburgh that instead of campaigning on national issues Duff has resorted to "a campaign of personal abuse against his benefactor, Senator Grundy and what he (Duff) terms 'Grundysm'."

More Speeches
Judge Charles Scott Williams, campaigning in Philadelphia, promised if elected governor to revamp the state Welfare Department, dividing it into one section for medical and mental institutions and the other for prisons and correctional units.

State Sen. George N. Wade, said at New Bloomfield that if elected lieutenant governor he would strive for improvement of the state employee merit and retirement systems.

On the Democratic side, Richardson Dilworth at State College criticized the "dumping of nuisance taxes on our school systems" and declared his opposition to centralizing the school districts at Harrisburg.

East Berlin

East Berlin—Students of the local high school and friends participate in a "Tea and Biscuits" at the auditorium on Saturday evening.

The annual music festival of the local high school band and choral departments was given to the public at the auditorium on Thursday evening in charge of the faculty of the music department.

A large class of seniors will be graduated from high school here on Friday evening, May 26.

Miss Louise A. Chronister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Chronister, was confined to her home for several days with a touch of grippe. Mrs. Lester M. Dagnell, who recently moved from near Littlestown to the Dillsburg area, visited here during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Merl R. Shetter, Pittsburgh, spent several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shetter, being called here because of the death of Merl Shetter's brother, Harold, who died May 3 at the Marine hospital, Baltimore.

Mrs. Raymond M. Lillich and infant daughter, Diane Carol, were discharged from the Hanover hospital where the baby was born April 30 and are now at their Abbotstown home. Mrs. Lillich's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Bubbs, reside here.

The Rev. J. Monroe Danner, elder-in-charge of the Upper Conewago Congregation, Church of the Brethren, had charge of a service Sunday at the Hampton Meeting House west of here, where V. Grace Clapper, for many years a missionary to China, gave the address.

A son was born during the week to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Hoffman, Jr. This is their second child, both boys. Mrs. Hoffman is the former Miss Bernice S. Elsenhart, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elsenhart.

Ross McKee, who is formerly of New York, but now staying in the York area while working as an engineer for the Texas Transmission Corporation, visited in town during the week.

Jeffrey, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Smith, Avella, has been a patient at Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, for several weeks for treatment of a rare disease. His parents are spending much of their time with Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleason E. Smith, during the baby's hospitalization.

Plane Crashes Into River; Pilot Critical

Harrisburg, May 12 (AP) — Morris Lavitz, 32, of Lebanon, was in Harrisburg hospital today with critical injuries received when his private airplane crashed into the Susquehanna river near Millersburg.

Lavitz was pulled from the wreckage by a crew of river workers who saw the plane, a Piper Cub, crash into the water late yesterday.

Charles Barner, 29, of Liverpool, one of the rescuers, said the plane struck high tension lines stretched about 120 feet above the water's surface.

Lavitz, a furniture salesman and father of two children, was taken to the shore aboard the steam barge of the river workers and rushed to Harrisburg hospital. Doctors listed his condition still as "critical" early today following an operation. Lavitz suffered severe head injuries and internal injuries.

Chapter 10

The dressing room which Katherine shared with Heather was near the balcony exit, and as she went in she could hear the audience clattering down the stairs. She sat before the mirror and took off her make-up, her face white and pale, dark rings under her dark eyes. She felt exhausted by the emotional experiences of the evening. Loving William was not exactly what she had expected love to be, and yet she did love him with every thought and breath. And he needed her; he had told her that he did.

Heather went out, calling good-bye, racing down the stone steps to be greeted with many "darlings" by a group of young people who were waiting for her to go for a moonlight swim. Katherine followed more hesitantly. She stepped into the street looking about her, hoping that William would be waiting. She stood irresolutely, a twist of fear within her. Suppose he were really angry? Suppose he did not want to see her?

Across the fields, through the branches of Morton's orchard, she could see a light burning in the barn window. He was at home, then. Should she go to see him? She was desperately tired, and longed to go to her own lodgings and sleep, but she could not face the night alone, not knowing whether he were angry or not.

The barn smelled dusty, of meal and oil cakes and old leather. At the top of the narrow wooden stair a thin crack of light showed round his door. She stood in the darkness, her heart beating in slow suffocating beats, and then summoning her courage, called: "William!"

There was the sound of feet across the floor, and he threw the door open, sending a shaft of light down into the darkness, lighting her slender figure, her eager upturned face.

"Kate," he cried. "My nightingale, my savior! Come up this instant! I'm in an awful mess. I haven't got a single shirt ironed, and I've burned one already trying to do it."

She ran up the stairs to him and he caught her in his arms. For a minute they clung together, smiling, kissing, pulses racing. Then she said, "Where is this shirt?"

"Here," he said in a melancholy voice, holding up a scorched tragedy. "I'll have to wear the cream one. How do you know whether an iron is too hot?"

Katherine snatched up the iron from the range where it was heating. "You spit on it," she said. "Ow! My goodness, it's nearly red hot." She set it on an empty tin to cool. "Why didn't you tell me earlier that you wanted one? I'd have done it then."

His dark eyes smiled into hers, enjoying the color that ran up her cheeks when he said impudently, "I was busy, earlier."

She turned away, her nerves slaving with the delight his look brought to her. She licked her finger and tested the iron. "I was afraid to come. I thought you were mad because—well, because Morton's given me Prunella."

"Why should I be mad?" he asked innocently.

"You think I can do it?" she asked eagerly.

"Of course you can," he said. Then he added, "It's an unimportant little play, anyway." The shadow hardly touched her eyes at that; she was still happy because he loved her. No point at all to tell her about Nolan's offer; it might not materialize. No use hurting her for nothing. "I was jealous, really," he said.

"Jealous?" she said, astonished, "Of me?"

"No." He laughed, and kissed her cheek as she bent over the table, carefully ironing his shirt, a little frown of concentration between her fine dark brows. "No, not of your acting, silly."

She laughed, too; the thought was so palpably absurd.

"I'm a possessive blighter," he said, quietly. "If you become one of Morton's pets, you'll get lots of parts, and you'll always be studying or rehearsing, and have no time or thought for me."

"I'll be studying and rehearsing with you," she said. She folded the shirt and finished it in the neat professional way that Aunt Bess had taught her.

"Here's your shirt—it's a very nice one. You're going to look dashing tomorrow, my darling."

He took it, kissing her for thanks. "Oh, I shan't be at the reading tomorrow. I'm going up to town."

"To town?" she repeated.

"Yes." There was a touch of irritation in his voice. "I really should have some more pictures taken. I know the part, and Morton's heard me read it. I'll be at rehearsal the next day—anyway, I'll be back tomorrow evening. Get something to eat, and we'll have dinner together."

She did not answer. He said in a hurt voice, "Won't you like that?"

She looked up with a quick smile. "Yes, it will be lovely. What time will you be back? I'll meet you."

"Oh, on the six o'clock, I expect."

"I must go now, or else my landlady will be wondering where I am."

She went down and out into the darkness, and she was surprised to find that although she was smiling and happy as she left him and ran down the stairs, once alone, she felt cold and had the creepy feeling of oppression one gets when the sun goes out on a chilly day. For no reason at all she, who had hitherto found the country darkness a safe, comforting thing, stopped at the stile to the field path with sudden dislike. It was very still. Then she heard singing. Someone with a pleasant, easy, untrained voice was coming down the road from the Red Lion, obviously thinking himself alone with the still country night.

She began to walk in that direction, feeling a little braver in the company of the invisible singer.

Nominate a Business Man For An Important Office

Your representative in the General Assembly at Harrisburg should be one who has had experience in business and knows something of the difficulties involved in conducting your state government.

I have been in the transportation business for 18 years.

I have also been a fruit grower and a farmer.

I know the problems of business men, farmers and fruit growers. They deserve the attention of your representative at Harrisburg. What is done at Harrisburg affects them and you.

I am a property owner and a taxpayer.

That is sufficient to assure you that I will serve all the people of the county and not a privileged few.

I Will Appreciate Your Vote at the Primaries

Just Imagine It's Yours!

You say you have never driven a Cadillac?

Well, it's a lovely day—and there are beautiful roads to travel down and interesting places to visit—and a little dreaming never hurt a soul... so just slide over behind the wheel. It's yours!

First, you'll just want to sit for awhile, with your hand on the slender, obedient wheel—and get a close-up view of the ingrained goodness that makes this car so unmistakably... the Standard of the World.

And then you turn the key, touch the soft-throated engine into action—and you're away.

The steering wheel all but reads your mind! The brakes are as soft as velvet, and immediate in their response! The road has become a boulevard—and the turns and lights seem so very close together!

And the soft, easy quietness of it all! You just sit and relax—in complete contentment—and the miles go by—and the miles go by... "Oh, how I wish this car were mine!"

Well, it's time, we think, to stop dreaming—and lend an ear to this: the lowest-priced Cadillac costs less to buy than certain models of numerous other makes of cars; it is so enduring that it will give a lifetime of service; and it is so economical that it actually approaches the low-priced popular cars in gasoline mileage.

Yes, it's time to go into action—and to make this car your own!

Littlestown LEGION POST MARKS 31ST ANNIVERSARY

Approximately 50 members of the Ocker Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion, and their Ladies Auxiliary attended a belated birthday party of the post, held by the Auxiliary on Wednesday evening at the post home, East King street. The program opened with the group singing of "America" and the invocation by the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor of Reformed church.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. James Fager, president of the ladies auxiliary. In the absence of Commander Garian Gillespie, the toast was given by Vice Commander James Fager.

A vocal duet was sung by Patricia and Suzanne Long, which was followed by the group singing of more war songs and the national anthem.

A feature of the party was the presence of five charter members of the post. They were Noah Snyder, Harry O. Harner, Thomas C. McSherry, Ernest R. Sents and James Fager. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert B. Wareheim and Mrs. Ernest R. Sents.

Preceding the Legion birthday party, there was a short meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary in charge of the president, Mrs. James Fager and Mrs. Mrs. F. J. Will presenting the secretary's report. A contribution of $5 was given to the cancer fund. Mrs. Fager reported that the Blue Cross Hospital Service enrollment sponsored by the post recently in Littlestown and vicinity was a success. One hundred and sixty families were enrolled.

Mrs. Joseph Long, chairman of the coupon service, requested that as many coupons as possible should be turned in between May 10 and June 10, as a prize is being awarded by the department during that period for the most coupons turned in.

Mrs. J. Ray Reindollar reported on the dinner she attended recently at New Cumberland in honor of Mrs. Norman Seiche, of Illinois, National president, which dinner was also attended by the department president, Mrs. Leonard Bradley, Bradock, Pa.

Elections will be held at the next meeting on Wednesday, June 14. Hostesses appointed for the next meeting on Wednesday, June 14 are Miss Edna Blocher, Mrs. Reid Pitten-torf, Mrs. Vernon Study and Mrs. Richard Long.

Thirty Canoes On Final Allegheny Lap

Foxburg, Pa., May 12 (AP)—Thirty canoes, each with a two-man crew, started out this morning on the second lap of a 160-mile race down the Allegheny river to Pittsburgh. A $100 prize awaits the winner.

The 60 canoeists left Meadville yesterday. They are expected to reach the finish line this week-end as a prelude to Pittsburgh's welcome week program. Sponsors of the race are the Conneaut Lake Sportsmen's association and the Chambers of Commerce of Conneaut Lake and Meadville.

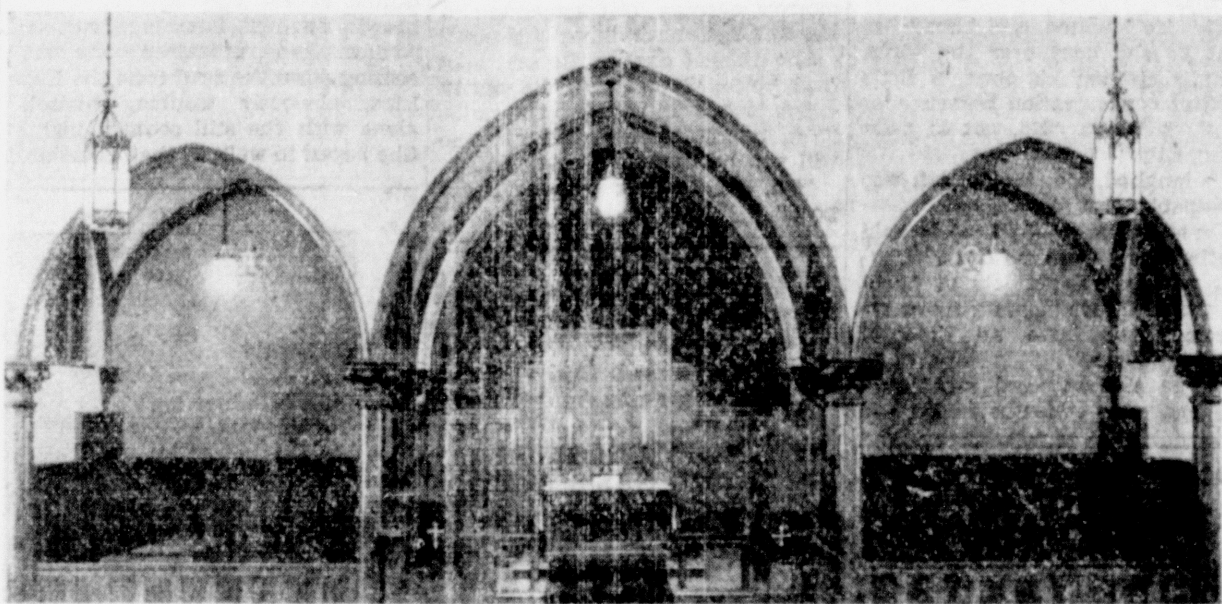

The first 60-mile lap of the race was easy at the start, but the going got rough as the canoes left the smooth waters of French creek and started down the wind-whipped Allegheny river. During the last few miles of yesterday's lap, the paddlers reported, a headwind almost equalled the river current.

The last canoeists showed up at Foxburg inn last night almost two and a half hours behind the leaders. They'll spend tonight at Kittanning, 48 miles upstream from Pittsburgh. Tomorrow they'll start off together in a final sprint toward the finish.

The Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, Maple avenue, Littlestown, will be host to the monthly meeting of the Gettysburg Classis Ministerium of the Reformed church, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. "Church Homes" will be the theme of the afternoon in charge of the Rev. Arthur Lee-ming, superintendent of the Hoffman orphanage.

St. John's Lutheran To Open Week Of Special Re-Dedication Services On Sunday Morning

The view above shows the front of the renovated sanctuary of St. John's Lutheran church of Littlestown. A special series of services will open Sunday and continue throughout next week, closing next Sunday, May 21.—(Photo courtesy The Photo Shop, Littlestown)

A week of re-dedication services has been planned by the pastor, the Rev. Kenneth D. James, and the council of St. John's Lutheran church, Littlestown, beginning Sunday, May 14, and closing Sunday night, May 21, following an extensive renovation program begun last August and just completed this week. The congregation, which has been worshipping in the Sunday school building since last August, will find a transformed house of worship as they enter the church auditorium on Sunday morning for the first service since the completion of renovations.

Renovations include an entirely new front to the sanctuary; a new two-manual pipe organ and chimes; new carpet; reconditioning of the church pews; new tiling in the vestibule; re-decoration of the church interior; new lights in the sanctuary; two new organ chambers, a choir room and a sacristy. Gothic locks have also been put on the outside doors.

Appointments that have been added to the church are choir gowns, a pastor's robe, a sanctuary light, sanctuary stands and clergy stoles.

Dr. Putman To Speak

The schedule of re-dedication services as announced by the pastor follows: Sunday, May 14, "The Day of Gladness," Sunday school, 9 a. m.; morning worship, 10:15 a. m. with the sermon by the Rev. George H. Berkheimer, Harrisburg, secretary of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America. The dedication of the new organ and chimes and the re-dedication of the church will take place at this service. There will be an organ recital by Miss Doris Baker, organist at St. Mark's Lutheran church, Hanover, on the new organ at 2:30 p. m.

Evening worship, 8 p. m. Guest minister, the Rev. Wallace E. Fisher, pastor of Christ Lutheran church, Gettysburg; sermon, "The Church—With Banners Flying."

Monday, May 15, 8 p. m., "Fellowship Night." Guest preacher, Dr. Dwight F. Putman, Harrisburg, president of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the U.L.C.A. Program, refreshments and fellowship in the social room of the Sunday school building following this service. Building will be open for inspection.

Former Pastors To Return

Tuesday, May 16, 8 p. m., "Former Pastors' Night." Guests of honor: the Rev. I. M. Lau, York; the Rev. J. I. Hummer, Reading; and the Rev. A. R. Longenecker, Gettysburg, former pastors; and the Rev. A. A. Kelly, Gettysburg, a ministerial son of the congregation. Sermon by the Rev. I. M. Lau with the Revs. Hummer, Longenecker and Kelly assisting in the service and bringing greetings.

Wednesday, May 17, 8 p. m., musical by the church choir.

Thursday, May 18, 8 p. m., "Friendship Night." Guests: the Littlestown Ministerium and the sister churches of Littlestown. Sermon by the Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church for 25 years, an ordained minister for 31 years, and now president, senior and active pastor of the Littlestown Ministerium. There will also be greetings from the ministers of Littlestown.

Concluding Services

Friday, May 19, 8 p. m., Preparatory service. Guest preacher, the Rev. Dr. Harry Hursh Beidleman, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Hanover.

Sunday, May 21, "Home Coming and Holy Communion." Guest preacher, Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, professor of systematic theology in the Gettysburg Theological seminary; Holy Communion, 8 a. m.; Sunday school, 9 a. m.; reception of new members and Holy Communion, 10:15 a. m.; Holy Baptism, 2 p. m.; sermon by Dr. Rasmussen, 8 p. m.

These renovations were in charge of two committees: Organ: Miss Kathryn Shriver, chairman; Edgar E. Yealy and Lloyd E. Staveland, representing the congregation; and Harry O. Harner, representing the church council; and the Church Council: Preston Myers, vice president; Harry O. Harner, secretary; W. E. Stites, Malcolm Hess, George Streib, Paul O. Hawk, Preston Crabb, Edgar DeGroff, Claude Gerick and Raymond Reinman. The terms of Preston Myers and Paul Hawk expired December 31 and they were succeeded on the council and committee by Leonard Kerchner and Kenneth Bortner. Malcolm Hess has been vice president since January 1. The pastor, the Rev. Kenneth D. James, was general chairman of the committee.

Other officers of St. John's church are: financial secretary, Mrs. Malcolm I. Heller; treasurer, Fred W. King. Mrs. Luther Myers is church organist.

Started In 1763

The first record of the existence of St. John's church dates back to November 13, 1763, and was known as the "High German Lutheran church." The land upon which the present edifice is now situated is a part of a tract given under grant by Thomas and Richard Penn to John Shewman and later, on October 26, 1771, conveyed to John Hoover for five shillings. The Rev. Carl Frederik Wildbahn is recognized as first pastor serving St. John's.

The present pastorate of the Rev. Kenneth D. James began October 3, 1940. An outstanding event of the pastorate was the building of the present Sunday school unit which was dedicated May 17, 1942. A modern kitchen was installed in the basement and the social program of the church and Sunday school greatly expanded.

Under the leadership of the Rev. Mr. James, the Men's Brotherhood of the church was inaugurated. A Week Day School of Religious Education was set up with graded lessons and full faculty. The renovation program of 1949-1950 is another highlight of the present pastorate.

Mothers-Fathers Program Planned

The Mother-Father's day program has been planned by the Junior choir of Grace Lutheran church, Two Taverns, for Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The program is as follows: processional by the choir; anthem, "Our Mothers," choir; scripture and prayer, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Myers, supply pastor; anthem, "Songs Our Mothers Sang," choir.

Littlestown Star Tops Loop Hitters

George "Nik" Kress, Littlestown's contribution to organized baseball is leading the East Texas league with a .462 batting average according to figures released by the East Texas league statistician. "His .462 average is 21 points better than that of Jesse Nelms, Kilgore catcher, in second place. Since then Kress has pounded out five hits, three of them doubles, in 18 times at bat to insure his league leadership," according to the Marshall (Texas) News Messenger.

Marshall, Texas, where Kress is playing ball, is a Class C farm club of the St. Louis Browns in the East Texas league. At present, the Marshall Whiz Kids, as they are known in Texas, are riding on top of the East Texas league with 10 wins and six losses.

Kress, who bats fourth in the Marshall lineup and holds down the leftfield berth, is also leading the Whiz Kids in the runs batted in department with 19. He has also turned in some fielding gems with several sensational catches in the left field.

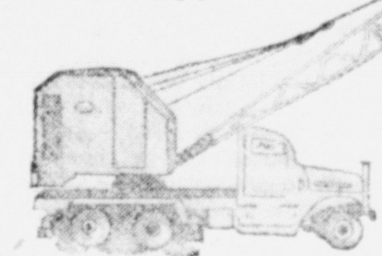

Kress' average: 39 times at bat; eight runs scored, 18 hits, four doubles, 1 triple, one home run, three stolen bases and 10 runs batted in.

"Silent Strike" Wins Point For Students

West Chester, Pa., May 12 (AP)—More than 1,000 of the 1,700 students at West Chester State Teachers college staged a "silent strike" yesterday by refusing to take part in group singing in the college chapel. Within 40 minutes, College President Charles A. Swope agreed to permit reorganization of the student self-government system. Satisfied with their "victory," the students left the chapel for their classrooms, whooping and yelling.

Why just listen to reasons?

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF!

THIS TIME we'd like to tell you about something that you cannot see in this picture—something, in fact, you cannot know about from looking at someone else in a passing Buick—or from viewing a Buick on our showroom floor.

It's the feel you get from a Buick in motion.

You are going to find out that it is something like traveling on your own private, jet-propelled cloud—only firmer.

Maybe you know a stretch of washboard road, where you have to slow down, or bounce and jitter.

Try that in a Buick and see how you keep a level, comfortable boulevard smoothness.

Maybe you're always on edge to dodge dips and chuckholes. Those also lose most of their jolt when you're at the wheel of a Buick—or in the rear seat.

In a few simple words—the ride of any Buick—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—is out of this world.

We could give you a lot of reasons. Soft coil springs on all four wheels, for example—the firm linkage of the torque-tube drive—the distribution of weight—big soft tires on wide rims—the way Buick engines are mounted.

Even Dynaflo Drive*—always silk-smooth and free of geared-drive harshness—plays its part in the marvelous Buick ride.

But why simply listen to reasons? Experience is still the best teacher.

Come see for yourself why the Buick ride is called "matchless"—and how little it costs to replace a jitterbuggy with one of these level-striding honeys.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

ONLY BUICK HAS Dynaflo AND WITH IT GOES:

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PAINTER STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fender, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS, cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-Rail springs, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

UNCOVER LEAD IN ATTEMPT TO IDENTIFY BODY

Berkeley Springs, W. Va., May 12 (AP)—Who was the red-haired woman whose nude, strangled body turned up at the foot of an embankment beside a Potomac river lover's lane near here?

Could she have been Betty Lou, who was hitchhiking from Akron, O., to meet her truck driver fiancé?

The body was found two days ago. Someone had strangled her with a rope, in much the same manner that 18-year-old Betty Jane Kennedy was killed four years ago near Rowersville, Pa., less than 50 miles away.

The high school girl's body had been stripped of most of its clothing. And she had been thrown over an embankment, too.

Over 1,000 View Body
That crime is still unsolved.

More than 1,000 persons of this area, where a narrow strip of Maryland separates West Virginia and Pennsylvania by little more than a mile, viewed the latest victim.

One, T. C. Yost, a former commissioner of Morgan county, said he was fairly certain it was a hitchhiker he picked up.

County Prosecutor S. D. Helsey said Yost told this story:

He was driving along a road near Altoona, Pa., Tuesday when he gave a pretty red-haired girl a lift. She said her name was Betty Lou and that she lived just outside Akron, O. Betty Lou did not tell her last name. She chain-smoked and told of having "some trouble with her family."

New Oxford

New Oxford—The infant daughter of Bernard J. and Mary L. Noel Baker has been named Mary Ann. Mrs. William R. Snyder, whose health has been poor for some time and who was recently confined to bed for several weeks, is reported improved.

Mrs. John Wolf was hostess during the week when a meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the First Lutheran church was conducted at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Alwine Jr. have returned from a visit of several days to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lawver, Davenport, Iowa. Mrs. Alwine is the former Miss Patsy Alwine.

Edward Dennis has purchased a share in the recently established New Oxford Furniture Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Chronister and daughter, of Hanover, are preparing to move to this place, where Mr. Chronister is engaged in business, as soon as their new home being erected can be completed.

The Women's Guild of St. Paul's Reformed church conducted a special meeting Friday evening at the Reformed church in East Berlin. The Ladies Auxiliary of the local fire company conducted a public bazaar with the sale of homemade chicken soup and baked goods on Saturday afternoon at the local armory building.

The Women's Missionary society of the Pines Lutheran church, New Chester, met during the week at their parish house.

Mrs. Kathryn W. Donohue, teacher at the Clear View schoolhouse, near here, reports that these pupils have attained a perfect attendance record for one month: Larry Beaver, William Reindollar, Gladys Noel, Sally Noel, Jean Rohrbach, Carol Warnick, Lee McWilliams, William Noel, Sandra Bechtel, Jean Rummel, Louella Young, Gerald Beaver, Gladys Beaver, Myrna Lee Bream, Bonita Laughman, and Peggy Ann Yingling.

Mrs. Keller J. Bucher, whose husband, a local butcher, died a few weeks ago from a sudden heart attack, expects to carry on his business.

A group of local children were among the invited guests of the management of Forest Park, near Hanover, on Saturday, when "Parochial School Day" was conducted.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Warner, recently married, are residing for a time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Pope, near Spring Grove. Mrs. Warner is the former Miss Nancy Pope, who resided here as a child. Mr. and Mrs. Pope and family moved to the Spring Grove area several years ago.

Is Undismayed By Valley Forge Loss

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Congressman Paul Dague (R.-Pa.) says he isn't dismayed by the House Armed Service committee's decision to give up its fight to prevent closing of the Army's Valley Forge General hospital.

Dague, who represents Chester county in which the Phoenixville hospital is located, said yesterday: "I think we will have better luck in dealing with the state of Pennsylvania than with the federal government in getting hospital care for veterans."

The hospital will be turned over to the state by the Defense Department at the request of Gov. James H. Duff. The Army ordered the hospital closed by June 30 as part of an economy cutback.

CAN FIGHT REDS
Philadelphia, May 12 (AP)—The Methodist church "is in a strategic position" to fight communism, says a leading Methodist clergyman. "We are a big church and a well-organized denomination," the Rev. Dr. John D. Herr, superintendent of the northwest district, Philadelphia conference, said yesterday.

BABE SCALDED
Norrstown, Pa., May 12 (AP)—Patricia N. Kline, nine-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kline, was scalded to death in her home at nearby Trooper Thursday, terminated immediately.

State police said neighbors told them the child was found in the kitchen sink. She was pronounced dead at Montgomery hospital. Details of the accident were not de-
